Formerly used as a rectory, the archetypal forms of peasant life in the Langhe are embodied in the humble details and confined spaces that have been meticulously preserved during restoration. It is designed with respect for energy savings and environmental sustainability.

KITCHEN

The gourmet kitchen is fully equipped with all necessary tools, handmade ceramics, and the highest quality linens. The lighting and seating are vintage Italian design; the décor is custom-designed and made with Trani marble and antique elm wood. The floor is made of original tiles dating back to the 1950s, all restored with care.

NESTLED WITHIN THE WALLS

The hidden garden embodies the best in outdoor living featuring a dining area, a Langa stone pool, and a solarium.

In the center, there is an ancient well with a fascinating history and breathtaking views. The garden is devoted to herbs, as well as beautiful hydrangeas and peonies in season. A one-hundred-year-old vine climbs up to the first-floor balcony reminding you of the wines of our region.

A PANORAMIC VIEW OF THE HILLS

The terrace adjacent to the kitchen is always cool and shaded. Remote hills fill the eyes and offer a landscape unparalleled in every season: silent and ethereal under a blanket of white snow, melancholic when covered by the veil of fog, lush and verdant with the arrival of spring and summer, fiery with spectacular colours in autumn.

BEDROOMS

In the Piedmontese dialect, the names of some fruit and vegetables allude to their region of origin. Our rooms are dedicated to these originally foreign fruits that in our land have found a cozy home.
